

Knowsley space saving

Overcrowding can seriously affect health, educational achievement and relationships. The Overcrowding Under Occupation Officer aims to provide practical support and advice to reduce the day-to-day impact of overcrowding while you may be waiting for more suitable accommodation.

How can we assist with saving space?

- Look at how to make the best use of your existing space, focusing on how you use your home now and making suggestions for change.
- Increase storage size and help you get furniture that saves space such as bunk beds, sofa beds or folding tables.
- Put you in touch with a handyman service. They may be able to put up shelves and get rid of unwanted clutter.
- We may be able to arrange competitively priced storage facilities for items which you want to keep but are not currently using in your home.
- Small changes to improve the layout of your home.
